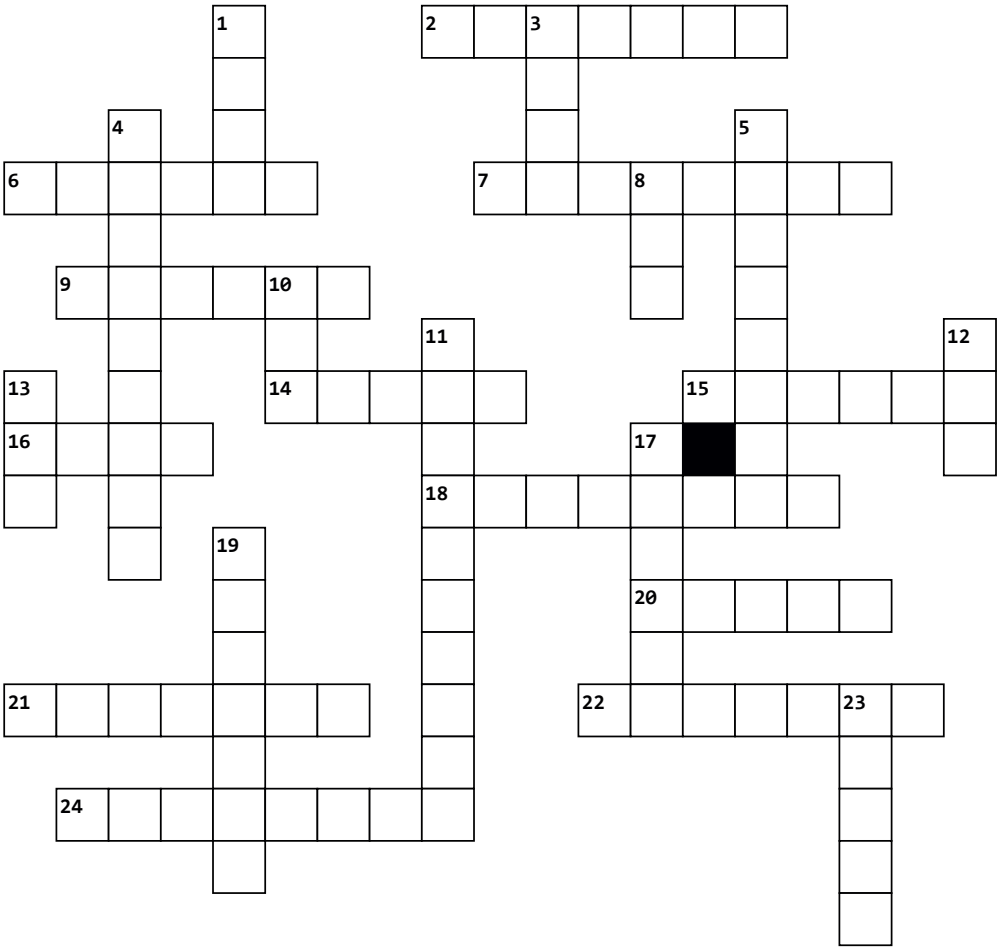
Computers Computers Computers



Across

2. A set of interconnected web pages

6. Used for storing files that are related top each other.

7. A set of keys that allows you to type and enter information on the computer

9. a unit of a computer that preserves data for retrieval

14. a device for connecting two computers by a telephone line

15. a copy of a program or file that is stored separately from the original.

16. a picture on a screen that represents a specific file or program.

18. Millions of computer networks that communicate together

20. A program which transmits itself between computers via, often causing damage to systems and data.

21. a device that lets printed material to converted into a form that can be stored in a computer.

22. a program that accesses and displays files and other data available on the Internet and other networks.

24. Software used to keep unauthorised users from accessing parts of a network or computer.

Down

1. a collection of related data or program records stored as a unit with a single name.

3. Eight binary digits

4. Used for short-range wireless connection of mobile phones, computers, and other electronic devices.

5. the physical used in computing

8. an error in the code of a program.

10. Random Access Memory.

11. Describes a device, such as a printer, modem, or storage system, that works in conjunction with a computer.

12. this stands for central processing unit, the most important part of a computer.

13. a fundamental unit of information having just two possible values, as either of the binary digits 0 or 1.

17. a piece of software that lets a computer communicate with a peripheral device.

19. a device that allows text or graphics to appear on paper.

23. A message sent or received from one computer to another